Ian

November 30, 2020 11:29pm

This is my third time to be a Wwoofer. I pay 40 USD for it every year, so I can enter a host page on wwoof.net to find organic farms around the world and to stay one for a few days. When I traveled there, the host offered me free meals and accommodation. But I needed to help with the work in return. There was no money for my work, and I was not the volunteer. I spent 2 weeks – 1 month traveling and working on the organic farms. I learned Food Justice and some skills, for example, making cheese in France, bread making in Germany, and maple syrup gathering in Canada. I also learned to feed, to care for the farm animals and to plant vegetables. Of course, I enjoyed eating the healthy and organic food. People over 18 years of age and no upper age limit can apply for the farming work on the WWOOF page. Those were wonderful for me when I traveled abroad and worked on the farms. I think everyone can give it a try.
