Lions and cats are in the same family. Lions are "big cats", but they are very different from the cats around us.

Lions are big and strong. They don't eat plants. They eat animals like goats, zebras and giraffes. Lions in the wild can live 18-20 years, but lions in the zoo can live up to 28-30 years. We call a baby lion a 'cub'.

Cats are small and cute. They eat animals like fish, birds and mice. They can eat fruit, too. Cats in the wild can live about seven years, but cats in the house can live up to 12-18 years or more. We call a baby cat a 'kitten'.
